Many carry Roosevelt flags and other society flags and national emblems. Bates, will lead 100 members who will go down the bay on the steamship Commodore and later have a stand on Fifth avenue.

The Army and Navy union has asked for a place for between 200 and 300; the Spanish War Veterans, who are to march, will turn out about 2,000 locally, and the Roosevelt Neighbors' association of Oyster Bay, together with a delegation from the Nassau county board of supervisors, will have 600 men.

Parade and Festivities Despite the Rain—Eighteen in Norwich Delegation.

Parading through the rain at Springfield on Saturday morning, the delegation from Norwich council, No. 309, United Commercial Travelers, a jaunty, well-dressed, and well-equipped white flag with a natty band of blue, white and yellow, the Travelers' colors. It was just such a day as the U. C. T.'s had at Providence a year ago for their parade and everything but the ardor of the traveling men was above the downpour through which they tramped. There were about 800 in the parade with six bands, starting at 11:15 instead of 9:30, because of the rain.

The Norwich delegation counted up eighteen, including two Norwich newspaper men, who were the special guests of the council and were shown the way to all the good things that were going. Those from Norwich council in the parade were the following: W. B. Young, Jr., Charles S. Peckham and Alexander Jordan, past councillors; J. R. Rogers, Jr., John J. Batic, J. S. Havens, of New Haven, Charles D. Finley, H. J. Saunders, and the Rev. Dr. J. B. Collins of New London. L. Bidwell, J. B. Collins of New London, C. Eugene Saunders, H. A. Wilson of Moosup, D. F. Talbot and Henry W. Leland, East Councilor Frank H. Patrick, one of the moving spirits of the Norwich delegation, was detailed as an aide in the parade so that he did not walk with the home crowd.

Because of the rain the ladies accompanying the commercial men were not in the parade. The parade was originally intended. They were entertained in Harmony hall, Norwich ladies in Springfield during the grand council session. Mrs. J. B. Rogers, Jr., Mrs. Henry W. Leland, Mrs. Frank H. Patrick, Mrs. C. Eugene Saunders and Mrs. D. F. Talbot. Of the seventeen councils in line all had some sort of special decoration for their members to wear, making the parade a picture of color and variety. At the head were the carriages containing the grand council officers.

After the parade special cars took the whole delegation to the hotel, putting such a strain upon the road that the power was completely used and the cars stalled a number of times.

At the grove a lunch was served, which comprised soft shell crabs, salads, cold coffee, ice cream and cake. Cigars and tobacco were given to the men and boxes of confectionery to the women who had come to the grove on one of the river steamers. There was dancing in the pavilion and a ball game in the soaked grass, in the Easton best Springfield council, 3 to 0.

Altogether the Norwich men agreed that the grand council was a grand success, although the Providence men last year were better prepared to take care of the crowd for a rainy day picnic. The Springfield storekeepers took the women to the grove in motor cars, as the city was liberally covered with the red, blue and white of the U. C. T.'s.
